BIOGRAPHICAL.

GEORGE BARTLETT BAILEY

Was born June 29, 1821, at Bridgewater, the first county-seat of Brown County, Ohio, on Straight Creek, about four miles east of Georgetown, the present countyseat of Brown County. His father, George Bartlett Bailey, was from Pennsylvania, and a physician by profession. He removed to Georgetown, Ohio, in the year 1823, and there began the practice of medicine and continued it at the same place until his death, in 1867. He acquired a great reputation in his profession and was known as an eminent physician in all the counties near his own.

The subject of our sketch attended school in Georgetown in his childhood and boyhood, and later on studied under a private tutor. In 1837 he received the appointment of Cadet at the United States Military Academy, at West Point, accepted it and was admitted there: In 1838, becoming satisfied that the life of a regular army officer would not be suitable to his taste, he resigned and returned to his father's home at Georgetown. He was succeeded at West Point by Ulysses S. Grant.

After his return to Georgetown he studied medicine with his father and attended medical lectures at Jefferson College, Philadelphia, where he received his degree of M. D. in 1844. He practiced medicine for a short time with his father, and then removed to Aberdeen, Ohio, where he began and continued the practice of his profession, until his removal to Portsmouth, Ohio.

While a resident of Aberdeen, he married Miss Margaret Davidson of that place. Seven children were born of this marriage, six of whom died in infancy or childhood, and but one, a daughter, grew to maturity. She is now Mrs. Charles Scheisez, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

While Doctor Bailey had, in leaving West Point, abandoned the idea of military life as a profession, yet he always had considerable taste for some of its features, and while in Aberdeen organized a Militia Company there and called it the "Aberdeen Rangers." He removed to Portsmouth, Ohio, in 1857, and continued the practice of his profession. He also engaged in the drug business in the building now occupied by the First National Bank. In 1860 he organized the "Kinney Light Guards," a State Militia Company.

When the first gun was fired on Fort Sumpter, April 12, 1861, he sought to organize the "Kinney Light Guards" into a company to respond to the call for 75,000 for ninety days. Thirty-five members of the Kinney Light Guards went into a company organized at Portsmouth, Ohio, under this call, which afterwards became Company G., 1st Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry. Doctor Bailey was commissioned as Captain of this company, which was enrolled on April 16, 1861. With this company he participated in the engagement at Vienna, Va., June 17, 1861, and the battle of Bull Run July 21, 1861. The time of the company expired July 31, 1861, and it was then mustered out.

Captain Bailey returned to Portsmouth. He was still determined to serve his country and accepted the appointment of Major of the Ninth Virginia Infantry, which was to be recruited at Guyandotte, Va. Captain Bailey accepted his appointment and went to Guyandotte to recruit and organize this regiment. While engaged in this work, the position of Lieutenant Colonel of the same regiment fell vacant and it was tendered to Major Bailey, who accepted it, but was never mustered.

On November 10, 1861, Lieutenant Colonel Bailey had with him three hundred men of his regiment at Guyandotte.

The Rebel General Jenkins made a raid on the place with twelve hundred cavalry on the night of November 10, 1861. In the fight Colonel Bailey was on the bridge over Guyandotte river, and in the darkness was shot or struck and fell into the water below, where his body was found the next morning. His remains were taken to Aberdeen, Ohio, where he was interred with military honors.

He was among the first of the citizens of Portsmouth, Ohio, to give his life for his country, and when the G.

A. R. Post at Portsmouth, Ohio, was organized in 1881, it was named in his honor. He was a kind husband and father, a quiet and unobtrusive citizen and a man of fine sensibilities. His widow was granted a pension as of his rank of Lieutenant Colonel, by a special act of Congress, but has long since joined her husband on the other shore.

Those who knew Colonel Bailey, say that the language of Marc Anthony in Shakespeare's Julius Cæsar might be well applied to him.

> "His life was gentle and the elements so mixed in him
> That Nature might stand up and say to all the world,
> This was a man"

BAILEY POST 164, G. A. R.

By P. J. Kline, Post Commander.

On the night of November 28, 1881, seventeen old soldiers met at the Court House in Portsmouth, Ohio, and then and there were mustered with the G. A. R. So formed the nucleus of what has ever since been called Bailey Post 164, Department of Ohio, G. A. R.

From this humble beginning, this organization grew steadily and rapidly until now it stands in membership the twelfth post in the banner department of the Nation, a department with seven hundred posts and a membership of 43,000 comrades.

Its fraternity is that warm and generous kind that recognizes a brother in every comrade. Its charity is of the open palm variety that responds quickly and cheerfully to the quiet importunity of need. Its loyalty is as pure as gold, tried as it has been in the fire of every battle in defense of the Old Flag.

Marching patiently and devoutly by the side of this veteran organization is another loyal body, composed of those who waited, watched, wept and prayed while the "boys" were at the front. This is no other than Bailey Relief Corps, No. 43, composed of Portsmouth's most loyal women. No soldier ever answered to drum but he left woman behind to work and to weep. Not so, however, with these two orders. Side by side they labor, not for themselves, but for unborn generations which shall rise up and call them blessed.

Then, in addition to these, is that young and growing order, Vienna Camp, No. 35, composed of the loyal Sons of Veterans. They are faithfully following in the footsteps of their patriotic sires, and the soldier, as he falls back in the twilight of life, is rejoiced to see that the skirmish line of liberty is manned by these loyal sons, and the color on the line is blue. "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."
